Commentary
Intolerance for inhumanity at the borders

A series of shocking reports over the last few months have come with the "zero tolerance" at the border. The US government has been criticized for its treatment of immigrant children and families. TheUSEmbassy in Mexico has expressed concern about the conditions in the temporary shelters where the children are being held. The Human Rights Watch has called for an end to the practice of separating families at the border.

American politics has been divided on the issue of immigration. Some argue that the current policies are necessary to maintain national security, while others believe that they are inhumane and violate human rights. The issue remains a hot topic in the US political landscape, with elections in November 2018 set to be dominated by the issue of immigration.

WILL BUNCH

"Intolerance for inhumanity at the borders" is written by Will Bunch, a journalist and author who has covered the topic of immigration extensively. His work has been published in major newspapers and magazines, and he is known for his advocacy for immigrant rights.

U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions speaking about immigration in Indiana last week.

http://digital.deliversoftware.com/Olive/ODN/PhiladelphiaInquirer/PrintPages.aspx?doc=PHQP/2018/06/19&from=15&to=15&ts=20180619082711&sp=2...